 - 2 hour limit in the Milner & Strathearn lot. Two Westminster merchants took issue with fines being incurred when the two-hour time limit for parking in the lot was exceeded. They explained that it's difficult to leave their businesses every two hours to move their cars in that lot when the alternative lot is often full. Councillor Small-Pennefather said that a parking ticket cannot be cancelled once it is issued, but she agreed that the time limits in the Town's parking lots, which are meant to be available to shoppers as well as merchants, will be looked into.  - PAC Overreach. A resident described the problems he encountered when installing a new garage door which PAC felt was not "aesthetically pleasing" because it had colonial panels instead of flat panels. After consulting an architect and observing that many surrounding houses had doors similar to the one he had installed, he asked for an exemption, but was refused. Councillor Torres explained that once PAC issued a permit with recommendations it is legally binding and cannot be reversed. Feeling that there is an overwhelming consensus in the town that there seems to be a lack of PAC being in touch with residents concerning the permit process which can often be exhausting and frustrating, he asked if the Town is open to conducting a survey which will address the citizens degree of satisfaction with PAC's permit process. The mayor replies that, although this question has never been asked before, it can be taken back to council for discussion to see if there's a way to get feedback from people to improve the process.  - Will neighbours be notified of upcoming projects on someone's property?
A homeowner, concerned about the possibility of a permit being issued for work on a property adjoining hers, was assured that if she wished to state an objection, she would be notified after the paperwork was filed and the consultation process was opened. (March, 2023, Informer – January, 2023, Council meeting) Editor Comment: If the project respects all the bylaws, should neighbouring home owners be notified?

One resident stated that he has failed to see any concrete examples of how MADA is making life any better for the senior citizens in the Town. Councillor Feeney responded that this group had created a very ambitious plan, creating 90 action items, when it was first mandated in 2020. To date it has either completed, or partially completed, over 45 of them. These examples were reviewed at the recent MADA meeting that was open to all citizens and will be the subject of an article published in the Informer. (see Councillors' Reports)
